

How closely each reconstruction tracks the published traits, inside each interval

Spearman of $-\log_{10} p$ across markers within the published interval, each reconstruction against its OWN published trait.

Filled points clear Bonferroni somewhere in that interval, open points do not — tracking the published signal and detecting it are different things.

● PC1 traits ● Slope traits ○ does not ● clears Bonferroni in the interval

